

Counselor Communicator

1) Do you have 2+ years of social work or counseling experience in structured work setting?

2) Do you enjoy helping people maximize their potential for success in treatment?

If you answered yes to the above questions, please read on about AHI's opportunity to become a Counselor Communicator!

The Counselor Communicator works and interacts with people to help them identify the goals, strengths and challenges with regard to their treatment. After these have been identified, the Counselor Communicator will engage them, in a structured way, in identifying options and creating a plan around their challenges, including identifying and engaging their personal and professional support systems.

In addition, the Counselor Communicator will be able to provide information and education with regard to substance dependence, treatment options, and medication information.

These interactions are designed to help people maximize their potential for success in treatment. The successful Counselor Communicator is non-judgmental, knowledgeable and promotes problem-solving without unsolicited advice.
